Under the terms of the Budapest Treaty on the International Recognition of the Deposit of Microorganisms for the Purpose of Patent Procedure, deposit of pBluescript Epsfsh15w6 was made with the American Type Culture Collection (ATCC) of Rockville, MD, USA, and received ATCC designation 98351. The biological material which is deposited is specifically identified in the application as filed.

The ATCC is a depository affording permanence of the deposit and ready accessibility thereto by the public if a patent is granted. The material will be available during the pendency of the patent application to one determined by the Commissioner to be entitled thereto under 37 C.F.R. 1.14 and 35 U.S.C. § 122. The deposited material will be maintained with all the care necessary to keep it viable and uncontaminated for a period of at least five years after the most recent request for the furnishing of a sample of the deposited plasmid, and in any case for a period of at least thirty (30) years after the date of deposit or for the enforceable life of the patent, whichever period is longer. The duty to replace the deposit should the depository be unable to replace the deposit or should the depository be unable to furnish a sample when requested due to the condition of the deposit is acknowledged.
